GERMANS FIGHT IN DESPERATION

Paris, Nov. 10, 11 p. m.—Tonight's official bulletin merely says: "In the north the battle continues with great violence. On the rest of the front there is nothing to announce."

Paris, Nov. 10.—The Germans reopened their local attacks with great violence on the left wing of the allies all along the front from Noyon to Dixmude, according to the official statement issued by the war office in Bordeaux tonight.

What they failed to accomplish with seasoned troops they are now attempting with young men and old.

But the newly arrived reserves are giving a good account of themselves. If anything, their courage is just as reckless and they are just as contemptuous of death and just as disdainful of the effect of the allies' fire as were the tried troops who lived among the flying lead and shell, waking and sleeping during the hundred odd days they have been giving the French, British and Belgians desperate battle in France.

The invaders are making a great effort to cover the retirement of the troops ordered withdrawn or they are making a supreme and definite effort to drive through Ypres. If the former, the allies are ready to pounce upon the enemy as soon as he has tired of his attempt to cover the movement in his rear. If the latter, the Germans have their work cut out for them.

With the eastern situation critically threatening the Kaiser, the Germans must either push through to the coast or retire to a more easily supplied line, nearer their base, in the opinion of military experts here. If they delay much longer the troops they need to withstand Russia's attacks on the east cannot be spared from the western line, because every man will be named to maintain the line from Noyon to the sea.

Attempts to drive through at three separate points were repulsed by the allies last yesterday, according to the official report issued from Bordeaux this afternoon.

At Bixchoote, at Ypres and at Armentieres the advantage swayed, pendulum-like, as the offensive was taken by one side and then the other. The day ended with the allies' positions considerably advanced. The fighting was much more violent than on the previous day, the lines clashing in close contact, with the bayonet in use frequently.

A particularly violent attack was begun by the Germans to the south of Ypres, but the British and the French met it with skill and determination and the Germans were repulsed with heavy losses.

The check administered to the German attack south of Ypres was a decisive blow to the enemy, and since its repulse no further assaults have been directed against this point.

The positions to which the allies have advanced along the line from the La Basse canal to the Woivre region all have been made during the day, and decided progress has been made in the region of Louvre, between Helms and Bery-au-Bac.

The Germans in the Vosges continue their attacks against the heights to the south of the pass of Saint Marie and to the southeast of Thanne, but all have been met successfully and the attackers driven back.

The greatest losses in the fighting of the last two days have occurred in the attacks of the Germans against the line running north and south to the east of Ypres. Here the fresh German troops, failing to profit by the dearly bought lesson of the veterans of the Marne, have attacked in mass formation, only to be cut down in great sweeps by the French and British rapid-firers. There is every indication that the fighting in this region will be found to be the bloodiest of the war.

GOVERNOR SPRY WELL RECEIVED

Madison, Wis., Nov. 16.—Governor Spry of Utah came to the front in the first session of the national conference of governors today in the discussion on rural credits. The discussion followed the reading of the report of a committee which has been at work on this problem for fifteen months.

Governor Spry was enthusiastic in his support of the plan to aid the movement "Back to the Farm" by the arranging of some method of extending rural credits, so that the farmer can operate his business on a scientific scale as the city business man.

Governor Spry said that only by making the farmer a business man could farming be made really successful.

The committee's report, presented by Governor Emmet O'Neal of Alabama, recommended uniform legislation regarding registration of land titles, foreclosure and tax of mortgages, around which much confusion now centers. The Torrens land title system was endorsed.

Uniformity along these lines, said Governor O'Neal, would give the farmer access to funds of savings banks, trust funds under control of courts and reserves of large insurance companies. In this outcome he saw the one great opportunity for farmers of America to obtain adequate funds for agricultural development.

He recommended that the conference appoint a sub-committee to prepare a new federal bill to meet the conditions and defects as he outlined them.

The state should extend adequate credit to settlers, declared Governor A. O. Eberhart of Minnesota, just as in its commonwealth public funds are loaned to municipalities and to schools.

Problems connected with the regulation of corporations so that while complying with the laws of one state they are not discouraged by different laws from doing business in another state were brought up for solution before the conference.

Hamblin, Royal horse guards, and forty-three wounded. Among the wounded is Captain Lord Alastair Robert Innes-Ker, Royal horse guards, brother of the Duke of Roxburghe. He married in 1907 Miss Anne Breeze, daughter of the late W. L. Breeze of New York.

Others wounded are Lieutenant the Hon. G. H. G. Mulholland, Eleventh hussars, Major the Hon. R. B. Robertson, Twenty-first lancers, and Captain L. D. Tollemache, Lincolnshire regiment.

REBELS ARE DEFEATED.

London, Nov. 10, 11:15 p. m.—A dispatch to the Reuters Telegram company from Pretoria says it is officially announced that on November 8 Lieutenant Colonel Vandevanter met the rebels at Zandfontein, sixty-four miles north of Pretoria, killing or wounding 120 and capturing 25. The union losses were twelve men killed and eleven wounded.

AUTO BACKS AND WOMAN IS CAUGHT UNDER WHEELS

Mrs. Matthew Dinsdale was seriously injured early yesterday evening by being knocked down and run over by an automobile. The car was driven by Alice Dinsdale, a daughter, and the accident occurred at the Dinsdale home, 724 West Seventeenth street.

Miss Dinsdale was showing several members of the family how to run the machine and made the mistake of throwing in the reverse levers, when she wanted the car to go ahead. Her mother was standing just behind the car and, when it unexpectedly backed up, was knocked down and run over by both wheels. The baby of the family was also standing in the path of the car, but injuries, Mrs. Dinsdale managed to get her feet, grab the baby and move it out of harm's way.

The physician who was summoned stated that no bones had been broken, but that there was a possibility of Mrs. Dinsdale having received internal injuries.

LODY, THE SPY, PUT TO DEATH

London, Nov. 10, 8:15 p. m.—It is officially announced that Carl Hans Lody, alias Charles A. Ainglis, who was found guilty by a court martial of espionage November 2, has been shot as a spy.

When arrested Lody claimed to be an American, but later confessed he was a German. He had lived in New York and Omaha. In the latter city he married the daughter of Gottlieb Storz, a brewer, who later divorced him.

Lody met his death in the Tower of London after having been found guilty by a court martial on charges of having communicated with the enemy. The statement concerning the execution is brief, merely saying, "Sentence was duly confirmed."

It is understood that Lody died game, refusing to the last to reveal the name of the superior officer from whom he received his instructions to spy on the British navy.

First for Many Years.

This was the first execution in the Tower of London since 1700. The scene of the execution was the tower barracks, not far from the spot where Anne Boleyn and other persons famous in English history were put to death. Lody was about 28 years old.

Carl Hans Lody, the first man in generations to be shot as a spy in England, once was employed as a guide by a tourist agency in New York and also worked for the Union Pacific railroad in Omaha. He was arrested late in September in London, charged with espionage, and at his trial testified that he was a former lieutenant in the German navy, but that he had been transferred to the reserves.

In his capacity as a reserve officer, Lody admitted being an alien enemy posing as a civilian—first times as an American—meanwhile communicating important information to Germany. He described the prisoner "as one upon whom the international law against spies should be imposed."

Counsel for the defense admitted that Lody was a German lieutenant and said he had taken the risks because he thought it was his highest duty to do so. He asked for a sentence less severe than death, but said if the full penalty were exacted, Lody would face it like a man.

Plea of Prosecutor.

The prosecution in summing up said Lody had admitted being an alien enemy posing as a civilian—first times as an American—meanwhile communicating important information to Germany. He described the prisoner "as one upon whom the international law against spies should be imposed."

Counsel for the defense admitted that Lody was a German lieutenant and said he had taken the risks because he thought it was his highest duty to do so. He asked for a sentence less severe than death, but said if the full penalty were exacted, Lody would face it like a man.

Former Wife in Seclusion.

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 10.—Neither the former Mrs. Carl Hans Lody, who is the daughter of Gottlieb Storz, nor her father is in the city. Mr. Storz, however, indicated some time ago that his interest in the Lody case was only a passing one and the convicted man's former wife has consistently remained in seclusion since Lody's arrest.

The marriage of Lody to Miss Storz created considerable comment when the wedding, which was almost clandestine, took place two and a half years ago. Miss Storz met Lody while on a tour of Germany and other European countries. She lived with him but a few months when they separated. Lody returned to Europe and his wife sued for a decree. He returned and secured counsel to oppose the suit, but later decided to not contest it and soon afterward left the city.

Lody had not been heard from by the Storz family since he sailed for Europe shortly after the decree of divorce was granted.

RIGHT WING OF THE PRUSSIANS FORCED BACK

Paris, Nov. 10, 7:30 p. m.—A dispatch to the Havas News agency from Petrograd says that the following Russian official statement was issued today: "In Eastern Prussia the right wing of the enemy, who has been stubbornly resisting in the region of Lyck, has been driven back toward Mazourie lake."

"East of Neideburg (twenty-four miles south of Koenigsberg), near the Maschken railroad station, a Russian cavalry force defeated a German detachment which was protecting the railroad bridges."

"On November 8 Russian cavalry, meeting a cavalry division of the enemy, forced it to retire toward Wals."

"On the route leading to Cracow we have attained Miechow (a town forty-four miles southwest of Kielce). In Galicia our troops have traversed the river Wislawa. They now occupy Rzeszow, Dynow and Lisko."

SEARCHING FOR KARLSRUHE.
New York, Nov. 10.—A British fleet of many ships is searching the southern part of the north Atlantic ocean and the Caribbean sea for the German cruiser Karlsruhe, according to officers of the United Fruit steamer Thives, which reached port today from the West Indies.

"In the Caribbean and most of the way to home Kingston I heard British warships talking to wireless, Captain McKay of the Thives said. 'I judged that there was a large number of them and undoubtedly they are after the Karlsruhe.'"

JURISDICTION IN DISTRICT NO. 138

At a meeting of the city board of commissioners the city engineer reported that jurisdiction had been gained in sidewalk district No. 138, although there had been quite a vigorous protest on the part of property owners. The report was received, and on motion of Commissioner Chris Flygare the engineer was directed to draw plans and specifications. It was stated, however, by the commissioner of streets that the improvement cannot be made until spring.

On the recommendation of City Attorney Valentine Gideon, respecting proposed litigation with Mrs. Ida M. White over the price of land which shall be used in opening Iowa avenue, a settlement was had with Mrs. White by which she was paid $148.04 as tax money.

The following department claims were allowed and the auditor directed to draw warrants for the several amounts:

Public safety $ 449.63

Streets 301.29

Finance 53.37

Waterworks 332.70

$1136.39

At the regular meeting this morning the petition of Christ Verelax, Company for a license to conduct a slaughter house business in the city was referred to the superintendent of public safety, T. S. Browning.

A claim for postage stamps from the auditor's office, in the sum of $100, was allowed.

FIGHTING RENEWED BY VILLA'S TROOPS

Naco, Ariz., Nov. 10.—Governor Maytorena's Villa troops opened the renewed siege on the Carranza garrison in Naco, Sonora, early tonight with well-directed artillery fire. For thirty minutes the attackers threw shells into the town, doing little damage but indicating a remarkable reversal of form in gunnery.

General Hill, commanding the garrison, sent out a skirmishing party in the afternoon which was sent scurrying back to cover by Maytorena's Yaqui Indians.

Fifty hundred fresh troops are reported to have arrived at Nogales on their way here to reinforce Maytorena. Hill also is credited with the intention of bringing his force of 800 men in garrison at Agua Prieta east for a rear attack on Maytorena.

Although Maytorena is proceeding leisurely with his preparations, the fact that the artillery opened tonight to get the range is believed by Hill to presage a night attack. This was frequently practiced by the attacking force during the previous siege.

here tonight he will tour Idaho, leaving tomorrow for the north to find out the wants of the people before taking office. He further said he was unalterably opposed to an inauguration ball this year. Governor Alexander will visit every county in the state on his trip of investigation to study Idaho's needs. He gave out the following statement:

"The people cannot afford to come to me. I believe it is my duty to go to them; I can better afford to do so. It will give them an opportunity to inform me of what they desire in state government."

"I come from the common people of this state and I consider myself as merely of the common people, from whom I received my votes. These are not the people who would attend an inaugural ball, and I am unalterably opposed to such a ball, and so far as I am concerned there will be none. With the present war on, I do not believe we would be justified in having one, anyway."

HUNGARIAN NOBLES DIE.

Paris, Nov. 10, 5:30 p. m.—According to the latest list of killed published in Vienna the Hungarian aristocracy had a considerable loss in the battles around Lille, France, to which district they had been sent to aid the Germans. The lists show that 867 Hungarians belonging to noble families were killed.

BELIEVE THE GERMAN CONTENTION WRONG.

Brussels, Nov. 7 (delayed in transmission), via The Hague, and London, Nov. 10, 2:40 p. m.—A proclamation issued by the German government of Brussels on November 6 threatens that unless the Belgium people return immediately and resume their former activities which now feed the idle populace.

Well informed Brussels residents claim that the German contention that the Belgian people are unwilling to resume their activities is ungrounded. The Belgians, they say, are willing enough to work, but this is impossible, since all their automobiles and horses have been taken by the German army, making it impossible for them to haul coal and raw material for the factories.

The Belgians, it is declared, fished the miserable, half-blind horses out of the mines, fed them and set them to work, but no sooner were these horses strong enough to pull carts than the Germans confiscated them for the army. Now the factories are without coal and iron or any raw materials. The industry, which was enormous in many parts of Belgium, has been ruined. The farmers have millions of beets rotting in the storehouses through inability to transport them to the factories.

The workmen, Belgians maintain, are willing to work for one-fourth of their ordinary wages, but the factory owners, unable to provide the necessary material, have been obliged to dismiss the men.

The situation in the last week has turned for the worse. A strict order not to allow anybody to leave the country, many arrests of Belgian men between the ages of 18 years and 30 years and the continual movement of trains bearing wounded and fresh troops are causing great unrest, and the population, which is doomed to idleness and which is watching the daily rations grow smaller and smaller, is beginning to murmur.

Open revolt and speedy destruction, some residents say, are preferable to this slow method of starvation, while the latest fine inflicted by the Germans of $1,250,000, which popularly is felt to be unjust, has suddenly sharpened the hitherto politically distant relations between the Belgians and their conquerors.
